

I consider a free and unimpeded press as one of our most important freedoms and rights. It is an economic fact of life that when one person or group of people control a market they control prices and quality. Therefore, it is necessary to limit the freedom of the market-place in order to insure the freedom of information to all Americans.

For this reason, I would hope that the FCC continue to limit the purchase of more than one form of media within a market area by one person or group of people.
